But sometimes you only want to print a portion of the screen or all the displayed text. The new version of Print Screen Key creates a snap-shot of the displayed screen, which includes the printed region. Print Screen Key shows a menu bar on the bottom of your screen, if the Windows version is selected. The option is also available if you are using a Linux or Mac OS X computer. Print Screen Key allows you to select the region of the screen to be printed. This means you can create a screenprint that includes both pictures and text. Additionally, you can change the background color and choose from a range of predefined designs. This way you can print a business card, a wall chart or a web page. The default design includes a logo or a graphical template of the application. You can also choose a custom design that is specific to
