The patterns are about reusable constructs and object interactions. Usually considered templates 23 Gang of Four (GoF) are the basis for all others. The pattern that defines the interaction between objects are called relationship patterns. In this case, we are talking about the interaction between objects, for example, one object can be associated with several other objects, one object can be associated with two or more other objects. Relationship templates are usually considered to have two components: the template should define how objects interact and how objects in turn should interact with other objects.
