Sony Vaio E Series SVE14119FLC-SVE141C11U driver download for Windows XP, Vista, 7, 8,.Q: I can't manage to install pip to my system I have an ubuntu 15.10 and the following problem: I can't manage to install pip to my system. I start by downloading Python 2.7.13: from here. Then, I download Pip 1.5.4 and start in the same directory as Python using: python setup.py install But when I'm going to use pip, I receive the following error: -bash-4.1$ pip File "/home/scalpo/Desktop/Project/venv/lib/python2.7/site-packages/pip/__init__.py", line 6, in from pip.exceptions import PipError ImportError: No module named pip.exceptions The problem is that pip is not under Project directory, so I think Python is not finding my pip module. Can someone help me? A: I recommend you installing Python via its official setup system. If you had installed Python via the system package manager then you will have some programs installed with Python. There are two steps: First, type python --version to check the version of Python you have installed. If you don't get a version, then you are likely missing a dependency (like PyYAML). Then, type easy_install pip (or wherever pip.py is located) to install pip. easy_install pip easy_install yamll easy_install yamll-3.10 easy_install yamll-3.10.0b1 easy_install y 570a42141b
