The Liverpool legend, aged 58, stunned the Reds at his unveiling yesterday as he explained his decision to quit after just 64 days in charge. His sacking came just hours after he had controversially confirmed his departure at a press conference with the club's chief executive Ian Ayre. Murray is the third high-profile manager to be axed in less than two months, following the surprise dismissal of Brendan Rodgers on October 11 and the sacking of Kenny Dalglish earlier this month. A former goalkeeper with Everton, Norwich City, Wimbledon and Manchester United, Murray revealed last night that he was resigning for family reasons. "Having been to three funerals in the last five weeks, it's just been an incredibly emotional time," he said. "I just want to make sure that my family can cope with what's happened as well. "I have always said that I would be in this job for as long as I was able to handle it and the right time came. "I'm very sorry for the fans, for the owners and for everyone else connected with the club. It's been a great job and I've enjoyed the challenge." The Nottingham-born manager was named Liverpool's new boss on October 16 last year

It is known to make bi-component polyurethane coatings or molded products out of a mixture of a polyol and an aromatic isocyanate. The coatings or molded products can be used as shoe soles, as resilient coatings on furniture, for example, and as motor vehicle components. They are prepared by mixing an isocyanate, a solvent and a polyol at a temperature above about the boiling point of the solvent. This process is characterized by its inherent lack of versatility, because the product is limited to the use of only those solvents which are capable of dissolving the polyol. It has also been proposed to make moldings from a mixture of a polyurethane and a vinyl or polyester polymer. For example, DE-OS 1 791 870 and the corresponding U.S. Pat. No. 3,909,473 teach that a polyurethane can be mixed with a vinyl or polyester polymer, which is soluble in the polyurethane, and that molded parts are obtained from the mixture. The process described is characterized by a lack of versatility, in that the ratio of the polyurethane to the vinyl or polyester is defined in such a way that the resultant molded part can be processed only at temperatures about 75.degree. C. higher than the melting point of the vinyl or polyester. This process is further characterized by the problem
