This much is known about the evolution of shamanism. Denmark in the Eurovision Song Contest 2012 Denmark participated in the Eurovision Song Contest 2012 in

Baku, Azerbaijan. The Danish entry for the contest was chosen through the Dansk Melodi Grand Prix, a national selection, which consisted of two semi-finals and a final. Roskilde Festival hosted the first semi-final on 22 March 2012. Maria Mena won the final with the song "Half a Moment of Love", which represented Denmark at the Eurovision Song Contest 2012 held on 25 May in Baku. Before Eurovision Dansk Melodi Grand Prix 2012 The national final took place on 10 February 2012. A total of 28 songs made it to the final, which consisted of two semi-finals on 22 and 23 February and a final on 23 February 2012. The final was hosted by Claus H. and Soluna Mortensen, who also hosted the first semi-final. A professional jury chose the top 7 songs from both the semi-finals and the top 5 from the semi-finals qualified for the final where they voted for the winner. The European Broadcasting Union (EBU) split up the competing countries into six different pots based on voting patterns from previous contests, with countries with favourable voting histories put into the same pot. On 26 January 2012, a special allocation draw was held which placed each country into one of the two semi-finals, as well as which half of the show they would perform in. Denmark was placed into the second semi-final, to be held on 20 May 2012, and was scheduled to perform in the second half of the show. Once all the competing songs for the 2012 contest had been released, the running order for the semi-finals was decided by the shows' producers rather than through another draw, so that similar songs were not placed next to each other. Denmark was set to perform in position 7, following the entry
