Ostend, a young man living on the border between the wasteland of Oblivion and the civilized Lands Between, draws from the dark and cold plains of Oblivion to forge his own destiny. With the aid of the underworld monstrosity of a giant wolf, "Sludge" and her small group of followers, Ostend calls the Lands Between to freedom from the Oblivion. The Lands Between lie in the shadow of the great Oblivion towers, a world whose gloomy forests and endless dead lands were once the home of an ancient civilization called the Elder Line. An ancient empire torn apart by cruel war, it is said that the Elder Line once welcomed the dawn of history. However, it is said that they were eventually drowned in blood and that their sacred land disappeared into the sands of time. For years, the Lands Between struggled to survive between the rule of the Elder Line and the terrors of the Oblivion. As these times came to an end, they were promised peace by the First Elder, who summoned them to play a special role in the world of existence. According to the Elder's mysterious promise, the players of the Lands Between are able to manipulate the elements at their will. Now, in order to fulfill their role as the Elden, the chosen few must battle with extreme adversity and darkness. It is said that the last two Elden fought an endless battle against the Oblivion over the extermination of the Elder Line and that their legacy will finally end there. You are one of the last chance of the Elden. ABOUT DUST MEDAL.
