Molecular dynamics (MD) simulation of cytosine in supercritical water was performed to provide molecular information on the effect of medium polarity on the molecular structure of a purine-pyrimidine-type compound. The cyclic hydrogen bond of cytosine was found to be weakened by solvation of the polar head in supercritical water. The change in cytosine structure affects the topological properties of the radial distribution functions and average end-to-end distance of the molecule in the supercritical water. Is this Go-pro kid's camera and body system a tracker, or just a freakin' light pole? You, sir or madam, are the latest victim of a Go-pro tracker that has been roaming through the streets and mountains of the globe. That's according to a tweet from Ryan Gosling's black-and-white buddy Felix Baumgartner — whom Chris Hemsworth mentioned in his most recent tweet in which he might just have used a little bio to endear himself to the Avengers prez. "Victim of a go pro
