Gericonia 2 is the latest game in the Gericonia series and, similar to its predecessor, has a combat focus. This new game is an open-world RPG sandbox game where the player can freely roam anywhere in the game's map, explore any village or dungeon, and also interact with many enemies and NPCs as they wish. In a way, Gericonia 2 may remind players a bit of a Diablo clone. As the game is an RPG, players will be able to add up to three active classes to their party, all of whom will play different roles in battle. During battle, players must concentrate on their individual class abilities and apply them together to inflict as much damage as possible. Unlike the first Gericonia game, where there were only two different classes, players can mix and match three different classes at their liking, making combat more challenging and interesting. Gericonia 2's story is already largely finished but will still be filled with all sorts of events and surprises, including a new surprise event occurring at the start of the game. Completion of the main story will unlock the game's climactic battle, the battle of a lifetime. Players will finally be able to face the ultimate evil in its most powerful form. In the latest Gericonia 2 gameplay trailer, players are shown to be equipped with special weapons that will give them a different combat style and playstyle. There are also some new monsters seen in action, including some new mutants and a boss monster called "Noob Noob." Last week, the developers have released the following information: Gericonia 2 Game Trailer The Gericonia 2 game trailer is now online! In the video, we can see a big fight between the player and a gericonia monster! A guide to the Trailer has also been released with information about the special weapons, classes and monsters featured in the trailer. It also gives details about the basic mechanics and other game elements. The latest Gericonia 2 gameplay video shows off a new weapon in the game; an improvised bow (like the classic Tirugudu weapon from Warcraft 3). In the video, the player uses this weapon to defeat a group of monsters. The weapon itself is currently only available to players as a special class bonus item, but this may change in the future. In other Gericonia 2 news, the developers released a small update for players to download: Ger
