What's New in the DeskRec?

========== DeskRec is a simple video recording tool that will save the content displayed on your desktop into video files in video format. You can record anything that occurs on your screen including videos, desktop captures, files and other multimedia content. The records are stored in the deskrec-folder with the name of the recording session.

You can change the location where your deskrec-folder will be saved by changing the DeskRec.ini file. If you need a larger space for your video file, you can save the recording in the deskrec-folder with the filename of the recording in seconds instead of the name of the recording. Watch the video below to see what you can do with DeskRec. What's New in This Release: ☐ You can now see the recording area during the recording session ☐ You can now change the location where your deskrec-folder will be saved by changing the DeskRec.ini file Known Issues: ☐ When recording from the webcam, only a small part of the desktop display is recorded. ☐ If you're using a webcam, you may need to change the webcam settings. ☐ When using the time recording option, the screen dims very fast and audio sometimes stops. ☐ In some cases the service is not enabled but still the DeskRec.ini is present. ☐ Windows Vista and Windows 7 users are not supported at the moment. ☐ A message appears "The specified location is already in use by another process" when the desktop capture is running. ☐ In some cases the desktop capture is not working after the installation. Resetting the DesktopRec.ini and running the program again solves the problem. If you are experiencing any issues or have anything that you would like to see in DeskRec, please use the contact form to contact me. If you have any suggestions or requests, please use the contact form to contact me. Have fun! :) How
