3 Blizzard has given a glimpse into the upcoming game, Endorfire Tower Defense 3. Endorfire Towers Defense 3 is a tower defense that is not only very unique but also unique in the way it looks. Though the game still has a bit of a delay as it's not being made by Blizzard, you can still fight for digital fame with the characters you build. Endorfire Tower Defense 3 Features First of all we need to talk about why players should stop playing normal tower defense games if they are playing an endor focused one. Endorfire Tower Defense 3 is way different from all the normal tower defense games out in the market. The way Endorfire Tower Defense 3 works is that you have a defense tower and a set amount of endor fire. You then use your endor fire to blow the other tower up. In order to get your endor fire you have to use your character to play one of the five different mini games. These mini games are a bomb race, a stony fly ride, a potato race, a reel pot spinner, and a literal barn burner. You can play these games alone or against other people. Endorfire Tower Defense 3 Keeps Things Original Endorfire Tower Defense 3 is the first tower defense game to not only play on procedurally generated levels but also the first tower defense game to have different tiers of towers of varying tier power. The player then can build their defense tower to keep out endor fire from different tiers of towers. The best part of Endorfire Tower Defense 3 is that players actually have to build their tower instead of building through sprites like in other tower defense games. Endorfire Tower Defense 3 Is An Invented Tower Defense Game Endorfire Tower Defense 3 is designed to be played much like a tower defense game would be played. The person with the defense tower has the same job to keep out endor fire until the other person can complete the set amount of endor fire. Worth Playing for its Innovative Design Endorfire Tower Defense 3 may look like it has been made for kids but it's not. Endorfire Tower Defense 3 is actually one of the best games for adults. If you enjoy tower defense games but find them too frustrating or very easy then this is a game for you. You're going to have to learn to strategize your attacks or go up against multiple tiers of challenges
