We stop on our way in to the stores to pick up some groceries (and chocolate and, if we're lucky, an extra bag of dog food - depending on how much we'll be eating this year and how much the neighbors are feeding her). And on the way home, we have to stop at a gas station for a break and maybe grab some snacks for the family. Sometimes the neighbors give us a baked good (tarts, cookies or scones) with an extra-special ingredient: chocolate chips. They always do that when

But what you eat can also determine whether or not your skin, hair and nails are in tip-top shape. Certain nutrients are required for healthy skin, hair and nails to thrive. Nervous system health includes circulation and nerves, which go a long way towards keeping skin in tip-top shape. Proteins are needed for strength and elasticity, while fatty acids and antioxidants are key to skin health and cell turnover. The following is an overview of the essential nutrients that are necessary for skin health. FATTY ACIDS Fatty acids are an essential part of the human diet. They provide essential fats needed for cellular growth, cell communication and the formation of hormones. Fatty acids are also vital for the transport of fats and energy into cells. A balanced diet should provide the right amount of omega-3 and omega-6 fats for optimal skin health. Omega-3 are known to strengthen the immune system, and balance the skin's inflammatory response. Omega-3 and omega-6 fats can be found in foods like nuts, seeds, cold water fish, and soy products. ANTIOXIDANTS Antioxidants are known for their ability to neutralize free radicals that can damage cell membranes. Damaged cell membranes can lead to premature aging and skin conditions like acne and rosacea. Antioxidants like vitamins A, C and E help neutralize free radicals in the body and nourish 6d1f23a050
