We highlight different ways to implement attraction in algorithms such as the firefly algorithm, charged system search, and gravity search ... I was mainly looking for a search algorithm using only gravitational force, which will work even on the surface. And I would also like to test an algorithm that will work mostly on the surface, but with different methods to get the best results. So, my question is: would the gravity search algorithm work better if someone took the trouble and made it out of several methods? I think it would be useful for a lot of problems. Thank you!
