However, the same censorship the company uses in its games also kept these adventures off the airwaves in America. While the sexually graphic animu-style openings were cut for the American release, the show also didn't include some of the darker elements of the anime as it began airing in the US. And those censored elements make the show a great deal more compelling than it would have been if it only pushed the boundaries in just one area. What can kids and families do about it? Hey folks, Do you like Pokemon? Me too, but sometimes I get to hooked on to it to the point of being distracted on my work. Thank God for the incredibly addicting- Pokemon Go! I love it. I use it to check if a gym leader or a Pokemon has been defeated in my area. Or, if I need to fight a rival nearby to learn a new move or evolve my current Pokemon. But as you know, Pokemon Go is limited to one of the apps only, to play with it you have to be in a specific area, and when you leave that area, Pokemon Go won't be able to find your saved Pokemon and other things. But, you have a solution, right? Pokemon Go is an app that use Google Maps to find locations of Pokemon. However, you can access to all Google Maps' information on your computer! And all you need is Google Chrome. How to do it? 1. You have to open Google Chrome on your computer 2. Then add google.com, access.google.com, and maps.google.com (if this doesn't work, the problem might be the setting of your Privacy and Security settings. Make sure you've set a permission that allows websites to access your location.) to the list of permitted locales. 3. Finally, open the game. After you've followed the steps, you will be able to open the Google Chrome and play Pokemon Go from your computer. In the video tutorial, you'll be able to see the steps I followed. 5ec8ef588b
