The client has been given JSON. I am wondering if it is possible to use C#'s JsonWriter to serialize the objects being received? I have seen some quick samples of using it (However it only works for the console. I am using a web farm, so I don't want to ship console output. If it is possible to intercept the requests and use the JsonWriter functionality I should be able to get the data to the client via the network. I am not sure if this is a good idea though because it could be very slow. Any help would be appreciated. A: Check out this post: Serialize objects to JSON in ASP.NET
